Number of poor persons rising

New tax cut plan receiving support

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the government reporting a 10.7 per cent jump last year in the number of persons who are poor by its standards, Democrats and Republicans on the Joint Economic Committee of Congress agree another tax cut may be in order next year to spur the economy.

The yearly increase in the number of persons living in poverty was the second in a row and brought the total to 25.9 million persons, roughly one American in eight.

The Census Bureau blamed the increase in 1975 to the whipsaw effect of high inflation in the midst of recession, together with the widespread exhaustion of unemployment benefits last year.

At the same time, the report said that despite an $818 increase in median family income to $13,720 a year, inflation dragged the buying power of that income down 2.6 per cent, the lowest level in five years.

The government defines the poverty level as $5,500 for a nonfarm family of four.

The Census Bureau report was described today by Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter as a clear "indictment of economic mismanagement" by the Ford administration.

In remarks prepared for delivery to a group of labor leaders meeting in Portland, Ore., Carter said: "Mr. Nixon and Mr. Ford have made these people poorer in the same way that Mr. Hoover made people poorer in the 1930s — by denying them the chance to work."

"The Republicans pay lip service to work but they veto bills that would create jobs. They have become a party not of work but of welfare."

The poverty level is determined by computing the cost of a basic nutritionally adequate diet and multiplying that by three, based on the finding that poor people spend one-third of their income on food.

Of the families below the poverty level, 68.7 per cent were white, 47.5 per cent were in families headed by women and 95 per cent lived in nonfarm communities.

On the question of future tax reductions, although Republicans and Democrats on the panel agreed that further cuts may be needed, they differed on the role that federal spending should play.

Democrats, headed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the committee, said that holding spending at current levels would restrict economic growth. But Republican members said spending above current levels would destroy the private sector's ability to create new jobs.

Auto title section sets move to mall

The leg work involved in obtaining license plates for a newly purchased automobile, truck or trailer has been reduced considerably by relocation of the auto title department.

Less than a year ago, car buyers had to obtain a title in the Fayette County Courthouse and then go to the license bureau on Rose Avenue to obtain plates.

The license bureau recently moved to the basement of the Main Street Mall, and as of next Monday, the title department will move from the Courthouse to the mall.

Although convenience to area motorists was not the primary reason for moving the title department from the Courthouse, it was the major factor in the selection of the mall location.

Office space is available in the county-owned building which formerly housed the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home. However, the Fayette County Board of Commissioners chose to rent space in the Main Street Mall to simplify the Title-license plate procedure.

Those who are unaware of what has to be done there are often sent back and forth between the two offices, said commission chairman Robert Mace. With both offices within a few feet of each other in the basement of the mall, the difficulties are greatly reduced.

THE REASON the title department is being moved from the Courthouse is to allow expansion of the records storage area for the Fayette County Clerk of Courts office.

The clerk of courts office maintains all records of Common Pleas Court proceedings. The number of cases filed annually was greatly increased during the past few years. Many more cases are being appealed, and legislation has increased the amount of records kept on each case.

As a result, the clerk requires additional record-keeping space. The area now used for auto title registration will provide storage for records, some of which are now kept in the attic of the Courthouse. These are very difficult to inspect or display in their present location.

The operation of the clerk of courts office will remain essentially unchanged. All activity normally conducted in the clerk's office will be retained with the exception of the title registration.

Mrs. Janet Kelley, chief deputy of the auto title department, will direct the operation in the Main Street Mall. However, she remains accountable to Mrs. Catherine Hyer, county clerk of courts. Mrs. Kelley will have three

35 die in series of air crashes

By The Associated Press

Fifteen Air Force men on a training flight and four pharmaceutical company executives en route with their wives to a meeting at a plush Virginia resort were among 35 persons killed in plane crashes during a deadly six-hour span.

The crashes Sunday in four states left at least 15 children orphaned — children of the Johnson & Johnson subsidiaries' officials who died with their wives in a fiery crash at Hot Springs, Va. Three crew members

Lions Club slates broom sale Tuesday

The Washington C.H. Lions Club will be holding its bi-annual broom sale Tuesday night.

Approximately 75 Lions Club members will be canvassing all residential districts in the Washington C.H. selling the brooms from 4:30 until 7:30 p.m. Four types of brooms will be offered.

The broom sale is one of the major fund-raising projects conducted by the local Lions Club. All proceeds from the sale will be used by the Lions Club in its sight-saving projects which provide eye glasses and examinations for needy Fayette County area residents.

The Lions Club will be headquartered in the now vacant Washington Hotel, at the corner of Main and Market streets.

Mike Flynn is chairman of this year's broom sale and Davis Boswell is the co-chairman.

aboard the company-owned jet also were killed.

In Colorado, a lawyer and his wife returning to Denver from a meeting at a summer and ski resort in Steamboat Springs were among six persons killed in the crash of a twin-engine Aztec Piper which slammed into two propane fuel storage tanks and burst into flames.

And three persons died in Illinois when their single-engine aircraft plunged into the Illinois River near Peoria.

Air Force officials said there were five survivors of the crash of a KC135 tanker jet which went down in a wooded area near Alpena, Mich., sometime after 8:30 a.m. Sunday. That's when Wurtsmith Air Force Base last had radar and radio contact with the pilot.

Two majors, nine captains, two 1st lieutenants and two sergeants died. Three captains and a 1st lieutenant from Kincheloe AFB and an airman 1st class from K.I. Sawyer AFB were admitted to Alpena General Hospital, where four were listed in serious but stable condition and the other in very good condition early today.

The plane, carrying five crew members and 15 passengers, ripped a swath 50 yards wide and half a mile long before crashing into a swamp a mile from the nearest road, witnesses said. "The largest remaining recognizable part of the aircraft, the military equivalent of a Boeing 707, was a 20-foot section of tail structure. Survivors were airlifted to the hospital, and the 15 bodies were evacuated to a temporary morgue set up in the same building.

Capt. Charles Pinkard of Wurtsmith, near the crash site in Lower Michigan, said the jet was en route from K.I. Sawyer in the Upper Peninsula to Offutt AFB, Neb., with a stopover at Kincheloe.

He said most of the victims were scheduled to participate in a special training program at Strategic Air Command headquarters.

At Ingalls Field in Hot Springs, the wreckage of the Grumman Gulfstream II jet owned by Johnson & Johnson of New Brunswick, N.J., was spotted by helicopter about 1 p.m. The plane, carrying Johnson subsidiaries officials and their wives from Trenton, N.J., to a Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Association meeting at the Homestead Hotel, plunged into a fog-shrouded mountain ravine and caught fire about 500 feet below the runway.

The airport is surrounded by mountains, and there is a drop off at each end of the runway. Visibility was poor at the time of the crash, and a National Transportation Safety Board spokesman said the last report from the pilot indicated that he was attempting an instrument landing approach.

The spokesman for the NTSB team dispatched to investigate the crash said early today that the pilot apparently made two passes at the runway before the crash.

Dennis Sutton, a Civil Air Patrol member who was the first at the scene, said the plane erupted in fire on impact — "It was totaled, burned. Everything was gone."

It was at about the same time that a twin-engine plane carrying Don R. Evans, partner in the Denver law firm of Yegge, Hall and Evans, and his wife struck two propane fuel storage tanks shortly after takeoff from the Steamboat Springs, Colo., airport.

Evans, 50, and his wife, Garnett, were returning home from his firm's annual meeting at the ski and summer resort community in northwestern Colorado. Four other persons aboard also died.

Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Dave Olds said the Aztec Piper plane struck the storage tanks and was set ablaze soon after takeoff about 1 p.m.

An Illinois crash about 11 a.m. claimed the lives of three Peoria residents en route to Lancaster, Pa., from Mount Hawley airport. State police said the single-engine plane went down in the Illinois River about five miles from Peoria, and the bodies were recovered by Coast Guard and Woodford County Sheriff's Department divers.

Activity termed huge success

Over 1,000 persons attend hunting, fishing day event

Fayette County's Hunting and Fishing Day activities attracted more than 1,000 persons and were termed "quite successful" by the local chairman.

Phil French, who chaired the Saturday activities at the Washington Square Shopping Center, said more than 1,000 persons attended throughout the day. He said the afternoon turnout was especially good. The Fayette County Fish and Game Association sponsored the event.

In addition to several daylong displays, the program was highlighted by several special events.

Fred St. Clair, of Jeffersonville, presented two demonstrations of retrieving fowl. His national champion English Springer Spaniels performed once in the morning and again just prior to the close of the day's events.

The Rattlesnake Coon Hunters Association provided a demonstration of treeing by top coon dogs twice during the day.

Other displays under the hunting and fishing tent included archery, BB guns, bait casting, conservation, and hunting safety.

A visit from Sam Hern of Cincinnati was welcomed by duck hunters. Hern, president of Ducks Unlimited, brought an air boat used for duck hunting, demonstrated calls and displayed a wide range of duck hunting equipment.

Howard Kelley, of Lynchburg, demonstrated muzzle-loading rifles, Bob Woodmansee played the banjo, Smokey the Bear was on hand throughout the day, and several area politicians attended.

French said he was pleased to have the Carnegie Public Library in Washington C.H. provide a bookmobile with a wide variety of outdoor publications.

REPRESENTATIVE ATTENDS — Sixth District Congressman William Harsha chats with Fayette County Commissioner J. Herbert Perrill, during Saturday's National Hunting and Fishing Day event at the Washington Square Shopping Center.

Charlie Pensyl offered a clinic on outdoor photography, and several officials from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources were present. They had attended several National Hunting and Fishing Day exhibitions and ranked the Fayette County show among the best.

Among the organizations participating were Audubon Society of Columbus, Boy Scout troops 67, 112 and 323, the Fayette Fish and Game Association, the Fayette County Garden Club, the Fayette County Rescue Unit, the Greenfield Archery Club, the Greenfield Bass Club, Isaac Walton League of Columbus, the Nature Lovers 4-H Club, the Ohio Forestry Association, the Sierra Club of Central Ohio, and the Washington C.H. Jaycees.

Economics, crime campaign subjects

By JAMES H. RUBIN

Associated Press Writer
President Ford is wrapping up a Southern campaign swing today, stressing conservative themes, while Democratic candidate Jimmy Carter continues to carry his attack on Republican policies to the Far West.

Carter, starting his campaigning today in Portland, Ore., said in remarks prepared for a group of Northwest labor leaders that new figures on poverty in America underscore an "indictment of economic mismanagement" by the Ford Administration.

The U.S. Census Bureau released statistics Saturday which showed there are 2.5 million more Americans below the official poverty line of $5,500 in annual income. The 10.7 per cent increase over last year is the largest jump in the 17 years the bureau has kept records.

Carter said it "means that we are on our way to creating a different kind of Other America, a class that has been called the New Poor."

Ford, who was in Miami today, said in a speech prepared for a Conference of the National Association of Chiefs of Police that he intends, if re-elected, to "stamp out the threat of political terrorism."

He said in the first 100 days of his next administration he would give top priority to federal anti-crime legislation. Ford charged that "Congress has done nothing" about a series of anti-crime proposals he has submitted.

Carter told audiences in California Sunday that the GOP was to blame for spiraling property taxes burdening homeowners. He proposed to bring property tax relief through revenue-sharing and federal assumption of local welfare costs.

Ford campaigned Sunday along the Mississippi Gulf Coast and, in effect, told voters he was closer to the South ideologically than Carter, its native son.

The President, who was greeted by some conservative Democratic officials along the way, accused Carter of favoring excessive spending for domestic social programs while advocating "disastrous" cuts in defense spending.

Meanwhile, vice presidential candidate Bob Dole, who is doing most of the legwork for the GOP ticket, is in Illinois, attempting to shore up support in farm areas where it has reportedly been wavering.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, his Democratic rival, said he understood the seriousness of unemployment when he spoke to those who were out of work. In a Baptist church in Baltimore, he told the black congregation that children of families who are deprived of a decent livelihood will go looking for a way "to make it . . . in the streets."

Off the campaign's center stage, attention focused on an investigation into fund raising in Ford's home state of Michigan.

Philip Buchen, special counsel to Ford, said the FBI had thoroughly examined in 1973 the same records now

Holds television rights

Table tennis tourney eyed by local worker

A New York City resident, currently working in Washington C.H., may be a wealthy man in a few years if a particular sport becomes popular in the U.S.

Tom Ibsen, 30, a salesman for Communications Marketing Inc., and currently contracted with the Court Cable Television Co., 218 E. Court St., holds the television rights to the world table tennis championships, tentatively scheduled for late 1977, in Hartford, Conn.

Ibsen is employed in the Washington C.H. area for a three-month period to sell the cable television system to local residents. However, he soon hopes to start videotaping some upcoming major table tennis tournaments around the world.

As an agent for the U.S. Table Tennis Players Association, Ibsen is hoping to film this year's world championships in London, England, and then distribute the film packages to various local and independent television companies in the U.S.

Ibsen said he also has the rights to videotape "the third most popular sport in the world" as it is scheduled to be played this year in Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, Nev., for $100,000 in prize money.

The Hartford, Conn., championships next year, however, are what Ibsen is most looking forward to filming.

It will be the first time that the world championships will be held in the U.S., and teams from 85 countries, including 3,500 participants and coaches are scheduled to attend, Ibsen stated.

TOM IBSEN

Approximately $1.5 million is reportedly being pumped into the new Hartford civic center to further enhance its capacity to present the spectacle.

The event will feature teams from all areas of the world, including such countries as the People's Republic of China, Yugoslavia, and North and South Korea, Ibsen said.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

It took two years of hearings, study, and debate, but Congress has at last approved a tax revision bill.

The legislative compromise reached between the two houses is far from perfect, but it does bring needed relief in some important areas. For that reason, I voted for the conference report accompanying the 1976 Tax Reform Act.

Despite the fact that we in the House of Representatives were considering a 1,536-page bill covering 250 different issues and touching the lives of every American, the majority on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee made it impossible for the bill to be amended on the House floor.

It was a matter of accepting the conference report or rejecting it, a matter of accepting much less than the full reform desired, or getting no tax relief at all.

One of the primary sections in the bill grants an increase in the estate tax exemption from the current $60,000 to $120,000 in 1977, and ultimately $175,000 in 1981. I had supported legislation to increase outright the exemption from $60,000 to $120,000.

Still, some relief is provided to middle-income Americans who may inherit nothing more than a modest house or small farm. Inflation has increased over 200 per cent since the estate tax laws were enacted, but the dollar exemption of $60,000 has remained the same.

Consequently, the growth of inflation has pushed hundreds of thousands of taxpayers into brackets subject to estate taxes, even though real worth remains relatively stationary.

Those who have suffered in this squeeze the most are the owners of family farms and family businesses, many of whose heirs must sell their properties simply to pay the estate tax.

The exemption increase is certainly welcomed, although, unfortunately, along with it, the bill increases the capital gains tax on an inherited estate which is sold.

Basic tax cuts that were contained as temporary measures in the 1975 tax bill were maintained in this tax reform bill, such as personal tax credits, standards deductions, and earned income credit.

Improvements in the tax treatment of the elderly are significant in that the retirement income credits are increased in one provision, similar to legislation I introduced during this Congress for the same purpose. A significant increase for the elderly in the tax exclusion level of funds received from the sale of a house is also provided.

The act changes our tax laws to permit a housewife without an independent income to contribute jointly with her husband up to $1,750 yearly, tax-free, toward retirement programs.

The minimum tax and tax shelter provisions of the law have been tightened. The bill actually increases the minimum tax liability for the extremely wealthy while at the same time retaining most of the incentives for individuals to invest their money in private enterprise.

In addition to improvements for individuals, there are tax benefits to help small business; to aid in the employment of the handicapped; and through the extension of the investment tax credit, to aid in the continued recovery of American business.

Tax reform has been a long time coming, and the action taken by Congress is a step in the right direction, even if the effort has fallen far short of true tax reform.

Tool theft reported to sheriff's deputies

A $100 tool theft from a combine located on the Bogus Road was reported to Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

Danny Hoppes, 1450 Rock Bridge Road, told Fayette County sheriff's deputies that $100 worth of tools belonging to him were stolen from a combine as it was parked on a field along the Bogus Road. Hoppes said the tools were taken sometime this month.

Approximately $30 in damage was sustained to three windows on the Bloomingburg Elementary School building, school officials reported to sheriff's deputies. The rock-throwing incident is believed to have occurred late Friday or early Saturday.

Washington C.H. police officers reported that sometime during the last two weeks, two windows on a house at 324 Market Street, were damaged by rocks. The house belongs to Charles F. Lucas, and he estimated the damage at $30.

Betty J. Waddell, 8127 Main St., Milledgeville, told sheriff's deputies that $25 in cash and coins were removed from a cigar box in her residence, sometime between Sept. 19 and Saturday.

A plate glass window on the Warner's Arco service station, 1204 S. Fayette St., was reportedly damaged by a b.b. gun shot, either Saturday night or Sunday morning sheriff's deputies were informed.

Larry Baker, 1103 Sycamore St., told police officers that the storm door of his home incurred $8 in damage when a BB shot was fired into the door around 2 p.m. Friday.

A $15 antenna belonging to Delbert Hooks, 746 Washington Ave., was reportedly broken off of his car around 4:30 p.m. Sunday, while it was parked on the K-Mart parking lot, Columbus Avenue.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne named Defiance when he said of the fort there: "I defy the English, the Indians, and all the devils in hell to take it." The site of the fort is now Defiance City Park.—AP

Running fence runs down

After a couple of weeks of fluttering in the breeze in a northern California coastal area, Christo Javacheff's 24-mile-long white nylon Running Fence is being taken down. The project reputedly cost two million dollars. On the whole, and with all due respect to the artist's creative vision, it strikes us as two million dollars not very well spent.

Oh, the project did put quite a few people to work — among them those who manufactured the materials for what one critic lightly described as the Great Undulating White Dragon. To some extent it must have heightened many people's awareness that art can take other forms than those of more or less conventional paintings and sculpture. Christo is one of a number of artists experimenting in striking changes in a natural landscape to convey some sort of message.

What message was intended in the Running Fence, we cannot say. It did look interesting. Presumably it aroused various emotions in those who saw it, perceiving it as work of art or mere curiosity or perhaps something of both.

Judgment is subjective, then, as always with a work of art — and we consider it so, if only on the basis of the rhetorical question: What else could it be? Whether stringing Christo's fluttery nylon fence across 24 miles of countryside was worth all the effort and an outlay of two million dollars in another question. All things considered, we could answer in the negative.

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Political chess players

WASHINGTON — Granted, it is still early in the game, but what both candidates are saying is, for the most part, irrelevant to the horrendous problems this country faces.

They are like chess players cautiously positioning their pawns with the big pieces presumably to come later when the debates are joined.

Take as an example of one of the big pieces on the board, the cost of the food stamp program against which conservative Republicans have raged — big spending by the Democrats. The cost for the fiscal year 1977 will be an estimated $5.5 billion.

Yet it was no other than the Republican vice presidential candidate, Sen. Robert Dole, who joined with Sen. George McGovern, the 1972

Democratic presidential candidate, in introducing a food stamp reform act that is before the present congress with little likelihood of passage.

One of the valued contributions of the Dole-McGovern proposal was an extensive inquiry into the program using data and conclusions supplied by the Department of Agriculture.

In sweeping aside the barrage of rumors about cheaters and chiselers, the thrust of the report was well summed up by Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.):

"This report allows the data from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the House Agriculture Committee food stamp studies to speak for themselves. The figures clearly debunk the myth that the food stamp program is a rip-off haven for students, strikers, the non-poor and cheats. The overwhelming majority of food stamp recipients have incomes below the poverty line ($5,000 a year). Of all food stamp households 1.1 per cent earn more than $10,000 a year. Students are 1.3 per cent of all food stamp beneficiaries.

"Most important, program complexity rather than fraud is the culprit behind high certification and stamp distribution error rates. The complicated formula of itemized deductions that determine net income and food stamp eligibility is an administrative nightmare. . . . USDA estimated actual recipient fraud at no more than 1 per cent."

At times, and the food stamp controversy is one of them, the players on the same side of the board seem to be working at cross purposes. President Ford proposed a drastic change in regulations that would have resulted in eliminating 4.5 million of those currently receiving food stamps and reducing the benefits to another four or five million.

Action was taken immediately in Federal court to enjoin the Department of Agriculture from putting the new regulations into effect. As an indication of the range of support for the program, it was a case with few precedents.

Nearly 150 groups enlisted in the move to block the regulations that came from the White House. This included 22 religious groups, 26 states, 53 trade unions and 34 civic and consumer groups, among them the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the League of Women Voters, which rarely takes such legal stands. The court found for the enjoinders.

On a recent Meet the Press program, Dole brought up the move he had made with McGovern to revamp the food stamp program. He suggested that this had resulted in a saving of $300 million.

Actually the cost of the program has dropped approximately $1.5 billion. This is attributed almost entirely to the decline in unemployment. In submitting the report of his committee on nutrition McGovern quoted his partner Dole as saying:

"That the program should grow at a rapid pace during a period of economic decline is not, in and of itself, objectionable. For it is programs like food stamps, unemployment compensation, and other public assistance efforts which help cushion the effects of the recession on those unfortunate enough to be without the means to support themselves and their families."

That hardly sounds like the Dole hopscotching around the country denouncing the Democrats as big spenders with the Carter-Mondale ticket as exhibit No. 1.

Both President Ford and his vice presidential candidate are stressing the economic recovery, which is a shrewd tactic. But with 7.9 per cent of the work force still without jobs, according to the latest report, it is hardly the moment to start cutting away at the cushion Dole talked about.

In his introduction to the report, McGovern pointed to the economic benefits of the stamp program as reported by the agriculture department. It increased business receipts in 10 sectors of the economy with the greatest impact in agriculture, food processing and food trade.

The report is a sound move to take this vital food supplement out of the land of myth and rumor.

Government payrolls zoom

By TOM DIEMER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The local government payroll has increased by 80,663 employees or 30.4 per cent in the last 10 years, a research council reports.

In October of 1975, Ohio's counties, cities, townships and school districts employed 345,723 persons with a total payroll of $309 million, according to the Ohio Public Expenditure Council. That represents a $185 million or 149 per cent rise in local payrolls since October of 1965.

"Governments and taxpayers alike are caught by the spiraling inflationary trend in the costs of operation," the council said. "Salaries and wages consumed, by far, the major portion of governmental expenditures."

School employees account for more than 51 per cent of the increase in the work force. But the 41,225 persons added by schools marked only a 29 per cent increase since 1965 in the school district category.

Cleveland, Ohio's largest city, was also the biggest employer last year, paying 12,637 workers an average monthly salary of $1,054.

"Cleveland, however, was second to Cincinnati in the number of city employees per 10,000 population," the council noted. "Cincinnati had 255 employees per 10,000 population in October, 1975, compared to 186 employees per 10,000 population in Cleveland."

Cincinnati paid its workers an average $947 a month. Toledo paid its 3,886 employees the highest average salary at $1,099 monthly.

Here are other major city payrolls: Columbus, 6,663, average salary $1,024; Dayton, 3,594, average salary $937; Akron, 3,123, average salary $1,098; and Youngstown, 1,605, average salary $876.

Among counties, Cuyahoga, encompassing Cleveland, employed the most personnel by far, 12,025, or 73 per 10,000 population. They were paid an average monthly salary of $1,272 last year, the council said.

"However, compared to the other big 10 counties, Cuyahoga had a large number of hospital employees (3,890)," the research group said. "When county hospital employees are deleted, both Montgomery County with 61 employees per 10,000 per population and Mahoning County with 53 employees per 10,000 ranked higher than Cuyahoga."

The legislature was unable to reach agreement recently on a bill that would have granted elected county officials average pay increases of 34 per cent.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: I THINK NOTHING GREAT WAS DONE BY ANYONE WHO WASTED TIME PEERING ABOUT AMONG HIS FAULTS. — LADY ELIZABETH RUSSELL

(© 1976 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't force son to get college degree

DEAR ABBY: Our middle son, Andy, is a very intelligent young man of 19. He went to college for one year just to please us, then he quit, saying, "I don't want to waste any more of my time and your money."

His grades were fine, but he says he prefers working with his hands. He's now enrolled in a trade school and we're so disappointed in him!

I'm not putting down people who work with their hands, Abby, but it seems to me that people who work with their hands do so because they aren't smart enough to work with their minds.

Andy's father is a professional man, and both of Andy's brothers plan to enter professions.

Please say in your column that a college degree is absolutely necessary these days. After Andy graduates from college he can do anything he chooses, but we desperately want him to have a college degree first. Thank you.

ANDY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I disagree. College is NOT for everybody. If Andy prefers to work with his hands, that's what he should do.

It's not true that people work with their hands because they aren't smart enough to work with their minds. Some handwork requires more skill, talent and know-how than many professions. You do your son a tremendous disservice by telling him he's "disappointed you" and urging him to go to college. Change your tune.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine was married for 22 years when her husband died. Two years later she married another man. That marriage lasted about a year and ended in divorce.

She calls herself a widow now. Inasmuch as her most current status was that of a divorcee, shouldn't she be calling herself a divorcee instead of a widow?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Technically she's a divorcee, but if she wants to call herself a widow, it's all right with me.

DEAR ABBY: My date and I were dining out, and as he was adding the tip to the credit card, the waiter said, "Don't bother adding the tip to that-I won't get it anyway." Then the waiter explained that after the restaurants are reimbursed by the credit card companies, the waiters rarely get their tips.

Abby, with so many diners paying with credit cards, I'll bet a lot of waiters get gyped this way.

You'd be doing waiters a tremendous service if you'd ask people who use credit cards to give the waiter his tip in cash. Thanks.

MARION

DEAR MARION: The top credit card companies and restaurants state that waiters are reimbursed immediately by their employers for their tips. Most waiters insure themselves against being gyped by keeping a record of the tips due them.

Hampton charge 1953-1960. While living in Troy, Ohio, they served the Casstown-Bethel churches from 1960-1963, and Emery Chapel from 1963 until his retirement in 1971.

Hosts for the celebration will be their only son, George R. Groh Jr. and his wife Lillian. He is presently superintendent of the Kenston School District, Geauga County, Ohio.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Groh Sr. have two granddaughters, Mrs. Arthur (Carol Sue) Shamakian and Mrs. Daniel (Beverly Diane) McClelland, and one great grandson, Danny McClelland, all of whom are residents in the Cleveland-Chardon area.

Separate ladyfingers; spread inner sides with jelly and reassemble; arrange around sides of a round 1-to 1 1/2-quart serving bowl — preferably glass. Sprinkle each with 1 teaspoon sherry. Into a medium mixing bowl turn milk, sugar, vanilla and instant pudding; beat until blended — a few minutes. In a small mixing bowl without washing beater, beat cream until stiff; fold into pudding. Pour into ladyfinger-lined bowl. Cover and chill.

Garnish top as desired—with extra whipped cream, marshmallows or toasted slivered almonds. Makes 6 servings.

Runnersup were Mae Francis DeClue, Miss Georgia; Sheila Gilbert, Miss Alabama; Susan Stephenson, Miss Montana, and Crescencia Knudson, Miss Arizona.

Miss Chapman succeeds Dixie Lee Etheridge of Greenville, Miss.

OHIO HOSTS — Donna Thackery and David Crosson of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources prepare to record a segment of "The Ohio Outdoor Notebook." The weekly radio series offers a light and lively look at Ohio's natural world.

Sponsored by natural resources department

Outdoor life radio show feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohioans interested in the outdoors will find an abundance of useful and up-to-date information on "The Ohio Outdoor Notebook," a public service radio series produced by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The series offers a close-up look at Ohio's natural world with entertaining interviews and feature stories on such topics as state parks, hunting seasons, fishing tips, special events, conservation and nature lore. A typical week's programs will range from a discussion of earthquakes in Ohio to a lesson on how to identify the call of a screech owl.

The series, which began in September of 1975, is heard on over 90 radio stations in 54 Ohio counties.

"We feel the positive response to these programs, both from participating stations and the general public, indicates a great interest in Ohio's natural resources on the part of the people of the state," said Ohio Department of Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater.

"The law which created the Department of Natural Resources in 1949 stressed the necessity of educating the people, particularly our youth, in the proper use and appreciation of our natural resources. This series is a part of our continuing efforts to fulfill that legislative mandate," Teater said.

"The Ohio Outdoor Notebook" is co-hosted by David Crosson and Donna Thackery of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' office of public information and education.

Each week, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources produces five one-minute programs and two five-minute programs. The one-minute programs are generally broadcast Monday through Friday, while the five-minute programs are usually aired on weekends. Scheduling of the programs is determined by participating stations.

Employment up slightly in state

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Total employment in Ohio advanced 2 per cent in the year period ended in August, the Bureau of Employment Services reported.

The agency also reported that from August 1975 to August 1976, the unemployment rate for Ohio fell from 8.9 per cent to 6.4 per cent of the civilian labor force. And, during that period, nonagricultural wage and salary jobs increased 1.5 per cent.

At the end of August this year, unemployment in Ohio was estimated at 298,000 in August, or 6.4 per cent of the civilian labor force. That was down from 331,000 and 7 per cent in July. However, the BES said the decrease was mainly seasonal.

Total employment slipped 4 per cent to 4.374 million in August. Nonagricultural worker payrolls numbered 4.044 million, equal to July.

Employment in Ohio's non-manufacturing industries slipped .2 per cent from July, to 2.779 million in August. Seasonal reductions in non-teaching personnel of public schools accounted for most of the decrease.

The Ohio factory production worker earned $29 extra for a one-hour longer average work week during the year ended Aug. 31, according to the bureau.

Stepped-up overtime at premium pay raised hours and earnings averages for workers producing heating equipment, industrial fasteners, and special industry machinery, the BES said. Wage-rate increases mainly were responsible for higher earnings in the basic steel and iron castings industries. Producers of nonferrous castings and paper products, however, reported curtailed overtime.

Average weekly earnings of production workers in Ohio factories increased $1 from July to $253.17 in Mine safety rules sought

CINCINNATI (AP) — When United Mine Workers Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick told the union's convention delegates here of bringing his brother's lifeless body out of a mine, they listened with empathy.

Coal mining is the nation's most hazardous industrial occupation. Thousands of miners have been killed and maimed in mining mishaps and almost all of the 1,800 delegates who heard Patrick speak Saturday have themselves lost friends and relatives.

Because of this, safety is a topic that's never very far from the floor during a UMW convention. The miners were thrashing out safety proposals when they recessed for the weekend Saturday and they'll be back at it again today when their convention resumes.

Both Patrick and Robert Garrett, the chief administrator of the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration (MESA), challenged the delegates to personally see to it that their mines become safe.

"Brothers," Patrick said, "the coal operators are never going to make the mines safe unless we make them do it."

The delegates agreed and went to work on the safety proposals they want included in their next work contract. Some of their suggestions are sure to touch off lengthy debate when the union negotiators sit down with the coal operators late next year.

One such proposal calls for the companies to employ a fulltime union safety committeeman, to be selected by the union, at each mine. In addition, the union's safety committee also recommended that the companies take over the financial responsibility—now shared jointly by the union and the companies—for a health and safety training course for all miners.

Another major safety proposal certain to turn up at the negotiating table calls for the presence of at least one union miner, trained as an emergency medical technician, on every section of every shift in the mines. The miners would be paid at their regular rate while receiving the medical training.

Other safety proposals include: —That the use of asbestos in any form shall be eliminated from the coal mining industry.

—That miners suffering from the early stages of black lung be allowed to transfer to less dusty areas of mines.

—That the union hire fulltime safety training instructors.

—That each mine have a professionally trained and modernly equipped rescue team with at least one member a trained emergency medical technician.

—That all diesel equipment now in coal mines be removed and no additional diesel equipment be used under ground.

—That there be automatic, continuous dust-sampling in the mines and a miner on each shift who does nothing but monitor the dust sampling program.

Patrick pointed out that the convention's opening day had to be halted twice while the delegates observed the deaths of two brothers back home.

Stock market shows nervousness, indecisiveness

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The shattering impact of one day's economic news demonstrates again how basically nervous and indecisive the stock market really is.

After dallying in a 60-point range from roughly 950 to just over 1,011 points for several months, the Dow Jones industrial average exploded for 20.28 points on Tuesday.

It was the 13th time since March that it had surmounted 1,000 points. In each of the previous spurts the energy seemed to drain from the market shortly after reaching that psychological benchmark.

This time, the usual Wall Street commentators said, it might be over that hurdle for an extended period. It stood at a 1976 high of 1,014.79 points, highest in 44 months, and traders said that level was supported by a scaffold of economic statistics.

The prime interest rate had fallen below 7 per cent. Consumer inflation at an annual rate of 6 per cent was viewed as moderate. Institutions were financially poised for action. Short traders were being forced to buy.

If over-all the recovery was proceeding slowly, well this too could be viewed as constructive. Traders observed that a slow but steady recovery was the economy's best protection against a new surge of inflation.

The mood continued into Wednesday, when the average rose another 8 points by early afternoon. Volume was heavy, suggesting some conviction behind the advance. Strength in blue chips was viewed as wholesome.

Then came the shattering news from the Commerce Department that new orders for durable goods—big ticket items that represent major, long-term investments, such as industrial machinery for manufacturers and refrigerators for consumers—fell sharply for the second month in a row.

Not only was a decline of 2.2 per cent recorded for August, but in the same announcement the government economists told of a revision in the July figures to an even worse decline of 2.4 per cent.

It didn't matter that both these reports might later be revised to show a less bleak picture. This was a dark cloud floating over the sunny market and nobody wanted to get struck by lightning. They sold.

What if indeed the Commerce Department reports are statistical exaggerations based on incomplete data?

It probably wouldn't change things much because, while the statistics might be questioned, there was little doubt that the primary metals industries were really beginning to hurt. Steel orders were off. Layoffs were spreading.

When steel demand drops it rings a loud bell in the minds of investors because, despite the inroads of plastics, steel still is the most basic industry, supplier to a thousand others. It is the bellwether, and the bell sounded tiny.

Other news, of course, was involved in the immense change of mind. In the new, less exuberant mood, for instance, it is likely that some investment managers reconsidered that "moderate" 6 per cent inflation rate and recognized that, continued, it would make a dollar worth a penny in just 12 years.

In reacting as it did, the market also forgot some mildly encouraging observations by analysts, such as the apparent strength in corporate profits and the large number of dividend increases, by General Motors and IBM, among others.

For the moment, few large investors—and large institutions were active both Tuesday and Wednesday—didn't question the Commerce Department report. Understated or exaggerated, it still was a warning to get out of the way.

How long this attitude will persist is anyone's guess, because at this point in the economic cycle the public is offered both good news and bad, buy signals and sell signals. Something's going on in the economy; there's a shift.

Whether the current pause is to be drift back toward recession is a speculative consideration.

Dole plans tour of southwest Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Robert Dole, the Republican vice presidential nominee, returns to Ohio this week to try to shore up what he believes has been slippage of GOP support in farm areas.

The Kansas senator plans to take part in a motorcade Tuesday from Parkersburg, W. Va. to Marietta, and make a speech that evening at a political rally in Newark.

Dole will stay overnight in Springfield Tuesday and make an appearance there before leaving on another motorcade Wednesday through rural areas of southwest Ohio.

Keith McNamara, chairman of the President Ford Committee in Ohio, said during the weekend that details of the senator's itinerary still were being worked out.

Dole, who spoke last Tuesday at the Republican State Convention in Columbus, hinted then he would be back to campaign in rural areas, hoping to convince Ohio's traditionally Republican farmers that a new Ford Administration would be in their best interests.

"We're going to work for the farmer," said Dole of himself and the president who has yet to campaign here for the Nov. 2 election.

Sunday, at Newport Beach, Calif., the vice presidential nominee confirmed reports of slipping farm support. "There are indications that in farm areas, we still have a great deal to do," he said.

Dole didn't give specifics, but mentioned "fresh surveys" that call for more work in the midwest farm belt. Ohio and Illinois, which he will visit later this week, were named as two of 10 states Republican strategists believe Ford must carry to win the election.

Ohio's farmers loom as possible supporters of the Democratic Carter-Mondale ticket in part because Carter is a farmer, and otherwise because some of them are still mad at Ford for imposing his 1975 embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union.

At the time, C. William Swank, executive head of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, said many farmers felt Ford caved in to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO whose union interests at the time called for support of the embargo.

The embargo was lifted in time for most of the state's grain harvest to be salvaged, although millions of tons had to be stored on the ground because the unexpected embargo halted shipments of that year's bumper crop.

Swank said the thing that angered his members most was that President Ford and Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz earlier in the year assured farmers their crops would be sold, telling them to "produce all you can."

McNamara, asked this weekend if he felt Ohio's farmers still are angry about the embargo, said "some of them may be." But he added that he thinks most of them were able to vent their feelings in the Republican primary in which Ronald Reagan received 45 per cent of the vote—"and now will support the president."

From the beginning, historians have noted that accessibility has been the keynote of Ohio's history, progress and productivity—Lake Erie and the Ohio River providing the great avenues of commerce and movement of both people and produce. Inland rivers were as streets and roads, and followed by railroads, added up to making Ohio the "Gateway to the West."—AP

Swiss organist sets Oct. 10 concert

Heinz Balli, an organist with the "Friedenskirche" church in Berne, Switzerland, will appear in a recital at the Grace United Methodist Church at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 10.

As a recitalist, Balli is much sought after and presents concerts throughout Switzerland and in other parts of Europe. In frequent performances for radio and television, he reaches a vast audience through his musical mastery. In January of 1977 he will perform a concert at the Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, France.

Balli was born in Berne, Switzerland in 1941. He is a graduate of the Academy of Music in Berne, with a special diploma for organ recitals. He has studied with the famous French organist Marie-Claire Alain, sister of composer Jehan Alain.

He has been enrolled in master courses with two of Europe's top organists, Vienna's Anton Heiller and Bologna's Luigi Ferdinando Tagliavini.

Balli was among the top-ranking performers of the National Organists Competition organized by the Swiss Television Corporation. In 1971 he also won the International Organ Competition in Bologna, Italy, one of the most important competitions in Europe.

For the October 10 concert on the three-manual Schantz organ in Grace United Methodist Church, Balli has prepared brilliant examples of organ competition by early composers

HEINZ BALLI

Vincent Lubeck, Georg Bohm and Johann Sebastian Bach, the 19th century musician Franz Liszt and the late Jehan Alain whose "Postlude" and well-known "Litanies" represent modern music on the program.

Grace United Methodist Church and the Washington C.H. Organ Club are sponsoring the concert. There will be no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be accepted to help defray expenses.

Family wins round in cancer struggle

MIAMI (AP) — "We survived another one," Jane Southerland said last February after learning her husband had undergone successful brain surgery for removal of a tumor.

It was good news for the family that had lost one son to cancer but saw their two other sons win their battles against the disease.

Now, Raymond Southerland says the disease which has brought his family grief and financial hardship may have given scientists vital information.

Southerland says scientists at the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., where he underwent surgery, have told him they believe they've found a link between his tumor and his sons' malignancies.

"They're calling the full complex of tumors 'embryonic,'" the Dade County police deputy said. "In other words, they think there is something in our genes that is causing us all the trouble."

What Southerland, 37, calls "all the trouble" began in 1942 when his brother, Jerry, died at age 2 from a malignant brain tumor. His mother suffered from breast cancer.

The Southerland's 4-year-old son, Jeffrey, died of lymphatic leukemia in 1969 after an 18-month battle against the disease. The day before his death, doctors diagnosed a rare form of cancer in the nerve linings of his brother, Michael, then 5. Michael underwent two operations, radiation treatment and physical therapy for paralysis in his left arm.

The Southerland's 15-year-old son Stephen was diagnosed in 1974 as having bone cancer in his left leg, and his leg was amputated. Later, he became good friends with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's son, Ted, who had a similar operation. Neither Stephen nor Michael has had a recurrence of the disease.

"I hope this is all over for us," Southerland said. "The doctors said we could still contract it. But we haven't had any recurrences. Maybe it is over."

Fish kill worrisome

TROY, Ohio (AP) — State officials are concerned about a pesticide spill in the Painters Creek area of Miami County which already is believed to have killed fish and which may endanger cattle watered there.

Alan Franks, spokesman for the Ohio Environmental Agency, said Sunday night that about 50 gallons of the pesticide Basanite-5 were spilled along a road and washed into Painters Creek by rain.

He described the pesticide as being "fairly toxic" and said it already is believed to have killed some fish. The EPA has notified the department of natural resources of the fish situation, Franks said.

He said a charcoal dam was being constructed downstream from the spill area and that bleach, which breaks down the components of Basanite-5, is being added to the water.

He said Basanite-5 is used get rid of potato plant foliage.

Jury acquits man in medical case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Franklin County Municipal Court jury Friday acquitted a man of practicing medicine without a license, then several members of the jury told the defendant they want to take lessons from him.

Fred Wu, who operates Dr. Wu's Kung Fu-Chinese-Karate & Tai Chi Chuan Institute in suburban Hilliard was accused of having diagnosed and treated an investigator for the state medical board who had told him he suffered from arthritis.

Wu's attorney, Raymond Twohig, maintained throughout the trial that his client, who has a doctorate in agricultural biochemistry, is a teacher of Chinese arts, and that he was showing investigator Jerry C. McDaniel a technique, not treating him.

"I went over to shake hands with them (the members of the jury)," Wu said. "They all asked me, 'We'd like to take lessons from you.'"

Many early Ohio newspaper editors published almanacs, guides and books in order to add to their income. Some of these early newspaper offices even dispensed merchandise. — AP

New England, Chargers pull off NFL upsets with aerial shows

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The meek inherited the earth — huge chunks of it at a clip.

In Pittsburgh, Steve Grogan, the wonder boy of the National Football League, followed up his sensational performance of a week ago with an even greater one, against an even more menacing foe, to lead the baffling New England Patriots past the reeling Steelers 30-27.

In San Diego, young Dan Fouts, facing a St. Louis team which often seems to own the patent on explosiveness, unleashed a bunch of lightning bolts of his own as the oncelowly Chargers struck down the Cardinals 43-24.

In Sunday's other games, Dallas outlasted Baltimore 30-27, Oakland edged Houston 14-13, Buffalo beat Tampa Bay 14-9, Minnesota nipped Detroit 10-9, New Orleans downed Kansas City 27-17, Miami shut out the New York Jets 16-0, Cincinnati whipped Green Bay 28-7, Atlanta blanked Chicago 10-0, Denver clobbered Cleveland 44-13, San Francisco sank Seattle 37-21 and Los Angeles trimmed the New York Giants 24-10. Tonight it's Washington at Philadelphia.

Patriots 30, Steelers 27
When Jim Plunkett left New England for the homier confines of the San Francisco Bay Area, the job of quarterbacking the downtrodden Patriots fell to young Steve Grogan, who had shown flashes of excellence last year. This year, he's shown almost nothing but excellence. After a downbeat start, a loss to Baltimore, Grogan beat Miami by throwing for three touchdowns and running for one.

Ahh, the fans said. Just wait until he meets the meanest defense of them all — Pittsburgh's.

He met them Sunday, said howdy and did his thing all over again, throwing for two touchdowns and running for a third against the two-time Super Bowl champions.

The Steelers built a 20-9 third-period lead before the roof caved in. The first crack came on Grogan's 38-yard TD pass to Russ Francis. When the Pats got the ball back, they got the lead for good on his 42-yarder to Darryl Stingley. Then he drove New England 80 yards for another touchdown, scoring it himself by stiff-arming tackle Mean Joe Greene and sweeping in from the six.

It put New England on top 30-20. Terry Bradshaw's TD pass cut the lead to three points and Roy Gerela tried to cut it zero — but his try for a 48-yard field goal at the gun faded wide.

Chargers 43, Cardinals 24
Fouts threw four touchdown passes — twice his entire 1975 output — against the Cardinals. Three of them came in the second period, when the game was put out of reach.

"We're 3-0 right now and it's been a long time since any Charger team started this way," said Fouts. The last time, in fact, was in 1968 when they finished at 9-5. They'd been going downhill ever since, including last year's horrendous 2-12 campaign.

St. Louis led 10-6 going into the second period. Ten seconds later, though, the Chargers were on top via Rickey Young's three-yard run. And 14 seconds after that, the rout was on. Jerry Latin fumbled the ensuing kickoff, Rick Middleton recovered and Fouts hit Charlie Joiner on a 30-yard TD pass. Three minutes later, Tom Graham recovered a fumble and Fouts found Dwight McDonald with a 44-yard TD bomb. And with 61 seconds to go in the half, Graham intercepted a pass to set up Fouts' 18-yard TD pass to McDonald.

Cowboys 30, Colts 27
Efen Herrera's 32-yard field goal with three seconds left to play was the winner, but the real winner was quarterback Roger Staubach, who teamed with Drew Pearson on 14-yard and 16-yard passes — and got a more-than-helpful pass-interference call against Baltimore to boot — to set up the winning kick.

Raiders 14, Oilers 13
Mike Rae, virtually an untested NFL rookie when he started in Ken Stabler's place for Oakland, threw touchdown passes of nine and 33 yards to Cliff Branch.

Bills 14, Bucs 9
Tampa Bay finally got on the scoreboard — but not across the goal line. Three Dave Green field goals averted what might have been the Buccaneers' third straight shutout. Two Joe Ferguson touchdown passes — 58 yards to Bob Chandler and 15 yards to Reuben Gant — were all Buffalo needed.

Vikings 10, Lions 9
Chuck Foreman ran five yards for a tie-breaking touchdown and a 10-3 lead, then Minnesota slammed the door. With first and goal at the Minnesota one, the Lions failed to score. A few minutes later they did on Greg Landry's TD pass, but a bobbled snap on the extra point let the one-point lead stand up.

Saints 27, Saints 17
Hank Stram returned to Kansas City as head man with New Orleans and celebrated with a victory. Tony Galbreath, who burst 74 yards for a touchdown in the first period, ran nine yards in the fourth for the TD that beat the Chiefs.

Dolphins 16, Jets 0
Bob Griese's four-yard touchdown pass to Jim Mandich and Garo Yepremian's three field goals boosted Miami past the Jets.

Falcons 10, Bears 0
A Haskell Stanback touchdown run, three plays after a Steve Schubert fumble at the Chicago 17-yard line, was all the Falcons needed to beat the Bears.

Broncos 44, Browns 13
Rick Upchurch returned punts 73 and 47 yards for touchdowns in Denver's romp over the Browns.

49ers 37, Seahawks 21
San Francisco's Jim Plunkett rattled Seattle's secondary for three first-half touchdowns, two of them to Gene Washington.

Rams 24, Giants 10
Los Angeles rallied behind John Cappelletti's two touchdowns on a 10-yard run and a 32-yard pass from James Harris.

WESTERVILLE — Behind a potent running attack and an overwhelming defense, the Westerville North Warriors manhandled the Washington C.H. Blue Lions Saturday night by a score of 34-0.

The Warrior rushing was spearheaded by senior fullback Paul Grandominico who gained 118 yards on 24 carries and scored three touchdowns. Jeff Powless, a junior tailback, anchored the play of Grandominico as he ran for 77 yards on just 10 carries including one touch-down.

The huge Westerville defense, led by 6-foot-7 tackle Jay Allison, made it very difficult for Lion runners all night and ended the night giving Washington only four total yards on the ground.

The game was all Westerville the entire night with the possible exception going to the referees. The men in stripes decided they needed a little action Saturday night also and, as a result, penalty flags were dropped 27 times in the contest and a total of 230 yards was marched off against the two clubs.

Westerville's first score came as a direct result of a Court House fumble. Sophomore Larry Brickles bobbled a punt and then coughed up the football while the Warriors fell on it.

Nine plays and 34 yards later, Mike Sowers, another senior tailback, scored on a one-yard plunge to put the Warriors on top. Junior Steve Koob split the uprights with his conversion kick to make the score 7-0.

The second quarter spelled doom for the Blue Lions as Westerville North scored two more touchdowns, the last one coming immediately before the half.

Midway in the second period, Warrior quarterback Duff Kelly engineered a 25-yard scoring drive by handing the ball to Grandominico on every play. The 5-11, 175-pound fullback bulled his way for all 25 yards and a touchdown. Koob added the extra point.

Another 52 yards was covered in less than three minutes as the Warriors made the score 21-0 at halftime. Kelly completed three passes to three separate receivers for 32 yards and then let his running backs finish off the drive. Grandominico took it in from three yards away and Koob again kicked the point after and Westerville had a three touchdown advantage at the half.

The third quarter was uneventful as far as the scoring columns was concerned. The teams rotated possessions around fumbles, penalties, punts, and a fake field goal attempt.

As the fourth quarter began, the Warrior defense had the Lions facing a third down and 38 yards to go and Jeff Elliott quick kicked the ball out to the 31-yard-line.

The ground game of Westerville went to work once again as Grandominico and Powless chewed up the 31 yards along with most of the Lion defensive line. Grandominico made a one-yard dive for his third touchdown and the kick was blocked to make the score 27-0.

The Westerville defense set up the final score for their offense as they registered a quarterback sack that resulted in a loss of 20 yards for Washington.

The Warriors covered 67 yards in only four plays as Grandominico gained 17 yards and Powless got the other 50 and scored the final touchdown of the evening. Koob again kicked the extra point to make the score 34-0.

Westerville whipped the Lions in every aspect of the game as they racked up 290 total yards to just 61 for the Lions. They compiled 14 first downs to just five for Washington in addition to gaining 216 yards on the ground to only four for Court House.

Perhaps the only good thing for Washington Saturday was the passing of Mark Heiny. He completed seven of nine attempts, of 78 per cent of his aeriels.

Next week, the Lions are again on the road as they try to get back on the winning tract at Hillsboro. The game will be the SCOL opener for both clubs.

Garvey eyes Dodger hit record

L.A. edges Reds in fruitless win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — At the start of the month even Steve Garvey knew it would take an extraordinary effort for him to reach 200 hits for the third straight year.

But today, with six games remaining, he is within five of that plateau, something no Los Angeles—or Brooklyn—Dodger ever accomplished three years in a row.

"I knew it would take a good September," said Garvey who had two hits Sunday in the Dodgers' 2-1 victory over Cincinnati. "But I hadn't had a hot streak all year so I'm due."

Garvey started September needing 43 hits in the Dodgers' final 32 games for his third successive 200-hit season. During September he has batted .396 (38-for-96).

Garvey's first hit Sunday eventually led to the decisive run, enabling Doug Rau to post his 16th victory, a career high, as well as lower his earned run average .254, second only to New York's Tom Seaver who is at 2.47.

Charlie Hough preserved Rau's victory with his 17th save, five more than he managed in all of his five previous seasons with Los Angeles.

The Dodgers also defeated Cincinnati rookie righthander Pat Zachry for the first time in 1976. Zachry was 5-0 against the Dodgers and was seeking to become the first pitcher in Los Angeles history to eat the Dodgers six times in a season.

"We're only one third of the way there, but it's a big step," says Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark. "I feel we've got the best club in baseball."

Ozark's club took the first step towards backing up that contention Sunday by clinching the National League's East Division title with a 4-1 triumph over Montreal in the first game of a doubleheader. After a between-games champagne party, the Phils came back to complete the sweep with a 2-1 victory in the second game, shortened to seven innings by rain.

The Phils will meet the defending champion Cincinnati Reds for the successful race season

Willzer J.W., owned by Willard Bitzer of Washington C.H., finished out his two-year-old season with a second place finish in the third division of the Ohio Sweepstakes Pace at Delaware last week.

His 2:01.2 time in the first heat qualified him for the stakes finals and the Fayette County horse finished second again in 2:01.

There were 31 horses in the sweepstakes field with Jimmie Dodger finishing first in front of Willzer J.W. in the finals.

Delvin Miller, owner and operator of Meadow Lands Raceway, drove the two-year-old in both races.

National League crown in the best-of-five playoffs. Should they survive that test, they would meet the American League representative in the World Series.

"We've got pitching on this club. We can hit. We've got some speed, experience and maturity," said Jim Lonborg, who pitched a four-hitter in the clinching victory to raise his record to 17-10. "You've got to have all those things in order to be champions."

"Today, we're champions."
Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets edged the Chicago

Cubs 2-1, the Atlanta Braves routed the San Diego Padres 10-4, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and the San Francisco Giants defeated the Houston Astros 5-1.

Greg Luzinski's three-run homer off Montreal starter Dan Warthen, 2-9, in the sixth inning was the decisive blow as Philadelphia mathematically eliminated Pittsburgh to win its first title since 1950, when the "Whiz Kids" took the National League pennant on the last day of the season.

Trace reserves stop Greenfield

The Miami Trace reserve football team overcame an 8-6 halftime deficit Saturday morning to beat Greenfield McClain, 28-8.

Sophomore quarterback John St. Clair had a hand in three of the four Panther touchdowns scoring twice on short runs and connecting with Paul Pratter on a 32-yard pass to give the Panthers the lead.

A three-yard run by St. Clair in the first quarter gave Trace a 6-0 lead before McClain's Jeff Robinson tied the score by hauling in a 35-yard scoring pass.

The pass to Pratter in the third quarter was followed by another St. Clair touchdown run. David Potter finished up the Panther scoring in the fourth quarter on a 43-yard run.

The Panther reserves will host Logan next Saturday.

Buckeyes, four other top teams fall

Missouri leads wave of upsets

By The Associated Press
"This was the greatest football game a Missouri team ever has played," said Al Onofrio.
"Nuts!" said Woody Hayes.
Woody wasn't disputing Onofrio. It was just that the scoreboard said 22 points for Al's Missouri Tigers and 21 for Woody's Ohio State Buckeyes when sub-quarterback Pete Woods tossed a two-yard touchdown pass to Leo Lewis with 12 seconds left and then ran across for the decisive two-point conversion after a penalty gave Missouri a second chance.

The comeuppance of the second-ranked Buckeyes highlighted another wave of upsets for the second time in three weeks as four other members of The Associated Press Top Twenty also went down to defeat.

Houston continued to make the most of its initial season in the Southwest Conference race. The Cougars, 49-14 losers to Florida in a non-conference game a week ago, knocked off ninth-ranked Texas A&M 21-10 and took over undisputed possession of the top rung in the SWC.

Penn State, like Missouri, went for two points in the final period but a pass fell incomplete and the 11th-ranked Nittany Lions bowed to unheralded Iowa 7-6. Arkansas, ranked 12th, dropped a 9-3 battle of field goals to Tulsa while No. 14 Illinois followed last week's upset of Missouri with a 34-19 loss to Baylor.

Meanwhile, top-rated Michigan smashed Navy 70-14, third-ranked Pitt held off Temple 21-7, No. 4 Oklahoma downed Florida State 24-9, fifth-ranked UCLA drubbed Air Force 40-7, sixth-ranked Nebraska crushed Texas Christian 64-10, No. 7 Georgia turned back South Carolina 20-12 and eighth-ranked Maryland beat Syracuse 42-28. Kansas, No. 10, was idle.

Back in the Second Ten, No. 13 Alabama trounced Vanderbilt 42-14, No. 15 Louisiana State zapped Rice 31-0, No. 16 North Carolina outlasted Army 34-32, No. 17

Mississippi blanked Southern Mississippi 28-0, No. 18 Boston College trimmed Tulane 27-3, No. 19 Southern California trounced Purdue 31-13 and No. 20 Texas Tech nosed out New Mexico 20-16.

Missouri's Woods, filling in for the injured Steve Pisarkiewicz, fired a 31-yard scoring pass to Joe Stewart in the second quarter but Ohio State's Pete Johnson scored three times on two-yard bursts to give the Buckeyes a 21-7 halftime lead.

Curt Brown's four-yard run in the third period made it 21-14 and Brown raced 31 yards to the Ohio State nine to set up Missouri's final TD.

Woods then overthrew Lewis in the end zone but Ohio State was caught holding, giving Missouri another shot. This time, Woods ran it in.

"I was quite relieved when I was given a second chance for the extra points," he said. "I just saw daylight and got hit before I got to the goal. I was lucky enough to get in."

The trigger-tempered Hayes was subdued but showed up for post-game questioning. He exploded when newsmen kept harping on the critical penalty.

"You just want me to say something about that penalty," he snorted as he stalked from the room. "You just want me to make an alibi. Well, nuts! Nuts!"

Danny Davis was the triggerman in Houston's upset of Texas A&M, drilling first-half scoring passes of 32 and 18 yards to Eddie Foster and a 50-yarder to Robert Laverne.

Iowa took the lead against Penn State on a two-yard first-period touchdown by freshman Tom Renn and Nick Quartaro's conversion and blanked the losers until only nine minutes remained.

Arkansas' Steve Little kicked a Southwest Conference record 61-yard field goal but Tulsa freshman Steve Cox offset that with boots of 39, 28 and 40 yards. Cleveland Franklin scored four times on short runs as Baylor stunned Illinois.

Ball State takes MAC lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Maurice Harvey's third quarter pass interception and touchdown run was "the whole turning point" in Ball State's 27-14 Mid-American Conference football victory over Toledo, Cardinals Coach Dave McClain said.

"Without that the outcome of the game could have been different," McClain added.

The triumph Saturday night pulled Ball State even with Ohio University and Western Michigan with 2-0 marks at the top of the conference standings.

All of the other MAC teams played outside the league. Miami suffered its fourth straight loss, 17-0, at the hands of Cincinnati, while Ohio University humiliated Idaho 35-0.

Central Michigan downed Marshall 22-7, Bowling Green was tripped up by San Diego State 27-15, Kent State was trounced by Iowa State 47-7, Western Michigan fell to Minnesota 21-10, Northern Illinois, and Eastern Michigan dropped a 23-10 decision to McNeese State, La.

Hoosier-Buckeye Conference play saw Defiance edging Earlham 28-24 on a touchdown by Gene Mendoza with 14 seconds remaining to play; Wilmington-trimming Manchester 10-9 on Dave Bishop's 22-yard field goal, and Findlay overcoming Bluffton 28-10 behind the two-touchdown performance of fullback Randy Farabee.

In Presidents Conference action, Carnegie-Mellon defeated Case Western 21-7 as Dick West ran for 134 yards and one touchdown, and Washington & Jefferson squeaked by John Carroll 10-7 on a fourth quarter field goal by Steve Cox.

Elsewhere, it was Akron 24, Youngstown State 3; Western Illinois 35, Central State 32; Capital 22, Denison 0; Georgetown, Ky. 34, Marietta 3; Kalamazoo, Mich. 33, Mount Union 32; Ohio Northern 30, Ohio Wesleyan 8; Wittenberg 21, Butler 18; Wooster 21, Kenyon 7; Hiram 55, Oberlin 0; Muskingum 31, Baldwin-Wallace 3; Otterbein 17, Adrian, Mich. 8, and Ashland 22, Heidelberg 6.

Division crown up for grabs

Royals, Oakland to collide

By BOB GREENE

AP Sports Writer

Kansas City might be in the driver's seat, but the Oakland A's have a big say in which direction the Royals are heading.

The Royals lead Oakland by 4½ games in the American League West Division — the only division race not yet settled. And Kansas City opens a three-game series at Oakland tonight.

"We're in the driver's seat, but we've got to win some of them," said Kansas City's Hal McRae following the Royals' 3-1 loss to the Texas Rangers Sunday. "It's been that way since the All-Star break when we were 12 games up."

One Kansas City victory at Oakland would sew up at least a tie for the Royals, whose "magic number" is three — any combination of Kansas City victories or Oakland defeats adding up to three.

"We've got to start hitting," said Royals Manager Whitey Herzog. "If we don't hit we won't win it."

Texas starter Nelson Briles, 11-9, held the Royals to just three hits through the first eight innings. But John Mayberry led off the Kansas City ninth with a single, bringing on reliever Mike Bacsik. Al Cowens singled and Jamie Quirk walked to load the bases.

After Bob Stinson's ground out scored Mayberry, Craig Skok relieved and walked Jim Wofford to load the bases again. But Steve Hargan — the Rangers' fourth pitcher of the inning — came on to get Amos Otis to fly to right, ending the game.

Lenny Randle knocked in two of the Texas runs.

In the only other AL games played Sunday, Boston stopped Baltimore 8-3 and California defeated Minnesota 4-1.

Rain washed out New York at Detroit, Milwaukee at Cleveland and Oakland at Chicago.

The New York Yankees clinched the AL East Division title Saturday night when they beat Detroit and second-place Baltimore lost to Boston.

"Maybe players make too much money and the World Series doesn't mean anything to them," Herzog said. "We should have wrapped this up two weeks ago."

Red Sox 8, Orioles 3

A six-hitter by Reggie Cleveland was backed by rookie catcher Ernie Whitt's two-run double as Boston defeated Baltimore. Cleveland, 9-9, was helped by three double plays as Boston won its 11th game in its last 13 outings. The Red Sox scored three runs in the fifth off rookie Dennis Martinez, 1-1, making his first major league start, then added five in the eighth as Cecil Cooper and Jim Rice knocked in two runs each.

Angels 4, Twins 1

Frank Tanana's eight-hitter was backed by solo homers by Dave Collins and Ron Jackson as California downed Minnesota. It was Tanana's third victory of the season over the Twins and snapped Minnesota's five-game winning streak. Tanana is now 18-10, with the Twins' lone run coming on Craig Kusick's home run.

Elk golfers attend state tournament

A number of Washington C.H. Elks Lodge members picked up trophies in the annual Elks State Golf Tournament held in North Canton earlier this month.

Hank Shaffer took first in the third flight individual tourney and finished ninth overall in a field of 512 golfers.

Bart Mahoney was second in the sixth flight handicap portion of the two-day tournament.

Charles Fultz had the low net score for 36 holes in the Washington C.H. contingent at the tournament with a 129-stroke total. Shaffer and Jim Conley tied for second with 134's. Ted Willis was third with a 135.

Shaffer led the Washington C.H. golfers with a 154 low gross score. Conley was second with a 164.

The state Elks Presidents Trophy went to a foursome from Ravenna with a low net score of 506. The Washington C.H. foursome of Charles Griffith, Jim Vess, Glenn Helmick Sr. and Roger Miller had won the trophy the past two years.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Would everyone who was able to follow the plot of that new cop show called "Delvecchio" please stand up? Thank you, sir. Now, tell me again, what happened?
It starred Judd Hirsch, the guy who was so good as a public defender on NBC's "The Law" last year? And he now plays a plainclothes detective with a degree of law and a heart of gold? And it was on CBS Sunday night? Okay, so far. Now, let me see if I can retrace the plot of the scheduled "Delvecchio" premiere, naming some actors to help. Correct me if I'm wrong.
It began with a "hit" attempt on an informer (Rene Auberjonois) who'd been snitching on bad guys for Delvecchio (Hirsch) and his partner (Charles Haid). The snitch beefed about the attack.
So Delvecchio went to see a guy in a poolroom. He accused him of setting up the snitch for the hit, acting for a crime boss.
But he had no proof. So he posed as a cab driver, disguised his snitch as a passenger and had his partner follow in an unmarked car.
I think the idea was to cause another hit attempt and find out who was behind it all. Sure enough, a black guy in a big car began following the cab. So Del, as they call him, told the informant:
"Bend down, pucker up and kiss the floor."
There was a chase and a shootout. The hit man died. I seem to recall somewhere that the snitch had an eight-year-old son he loved and wanted to stop snitching after one last job for Del.
Del agreed to help him. He then learned the guy had a separate snitch deal with another cop. He told this cop: "If I ever catch you messing with one of my finks again, I'm going to personally introduce your nose to your left ear."
He also got mad at his snitch, who claimed the other cop threatened to have his son taken away from him. He pleaded for another chance.
Del said okay, but warned: "Look, no more cons ... this time, everything up front." There then came something about the snitch telling Del a burglary of warehouse full of furs was afoot.
But I missed the gist of it when the scene shifted to a meeting between the informant and narcotics officers to set up a cocaine bust.
Anyway, when Del came to the warehouse for the fur bust, his snitch got nervous. He called the fur burglars there, told them he'd told the cops of their caper and apologized to one for ratting on him a few years earlier. Too late. The cops arrived.
Still, there was almost a shootout until Del warned: "Time in the joint is a lot better than a slab in the morgue." They gave up.
The warehouse phone rang again. It was the snitch calling the burglar back. Del took the call. He got mad at the snitch again.
But he went with him on the narcotics bust at a hotel room. Gunfire erupted and the snitch and two cocaine salesmen died.
Is that how it all went, sir? Close? Now you're confused?

Finding Help for Depression

I go into one depression after another. I go from doctor to doctor, appealing for help. I feel temporarily better and then, before I can enjoy a period of happiness, I fall right back into a well of despair. — Mrs. D. K., Nev.

Dear Mrs. K.: The fact that you are going from doctor to doctor in an effort to find a solution to your problem may be an important part of your problem.

There are physical and emotional causes for depression. Sometimes, they are separate from each other. More often, they are closely interrelated.

Mild or severe depression can come as an overlay to a physical illness. In such instances, it is imperative that the cause of that physical illness be established and intensively treated.

In other instances, depression may come on without any specific physical disturbance. In such cases, it is necessary to seek the help and guidance of a psychiatrist or a psychologist because they are specially trained.

During periods of depression, patients want a solution to their problem. When this is delayed, patients like yourself run from doctor to doctor, without giving any single one the opportunity or time to establish the factors responsible for depression.

At present, vast strides have been made in the field of anti-depressant drugs. When carefully chosen and specifically tailored to the needs of each patient, in combination with psychotherapy, depression is controllable, and even conquerable.

Is cirrhosis of the liver always a fatal disease? — Mr. N. V. D., Fla.

Dear Mr. D.: No, it's not. There are now a great many highly sensitive tests and enzyme studies which bring early cirrhosis to the diagnostic attention of the doctor.

When it is suspected and treated immediately, and when its cause is eliminated, people with early stages of cirrhosis can be expected to live out a normal period of years.

There comes a time, however, when cirrhosis has been untreated and when its cause has not been eliminated, that this liver disease can become irreversible.

The liver is a remarkable organ that often can function despite some cirrhotic changes. It cannot be expected to overcome the handicap of years of neglect.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♦	1♠	Pass	2♥
Pass	2NT	Pass	3NT
4♠	Pass	Pass	Dble

Opening lead — jack of hearts.

Players who bid too much constitute a large segment of the bridge-playing fraternity. So much so, that one frequently hears it said that the hardest word to pronounce in bridge is "Pass."

Here is a hand that, strangely enough, was played in a world championship match between Italy and the United States. When the Italians were North-South, they wound up in four clubs doubled. Declarer went down three — 500 points — scoring the A-K of diamonds.

two diamond ruffs in dummy and three ruffs in his hand.

It seems odd that South waited for the opponents to get to three notrump before introducing his club suit. Even more embarrassing was the realization later on that West could not have made three notrump!

When the Italian East-West pair played the same hand at the second table, they also had difficulty pronouncing the word "Pass." The bidding went:

South	West	North	East
1♦	1♠	Pass	2♥
4♠	Pass	Pass	3♦
Dble	3♠	Pass	Pass

East could easily have thrown in the sponge after South's three club bid and West's pass. Game had become extremely unlikely at this point, and the potential part score involved was not worth fighting for. But East found himself psychologically unable to pass, and West wound up at three spades.

West did not fare well. He ducked the queen of clubs lead and North shifted to a heart. South ruffed and cashed the A-K of diamonds, North discarding the jack of clubs. North trumped the diamond return and gave South another heart ruff. Then South returned a club which North ruffed. So the Italian declarer went down three — 300 points — and the U.S. team gained 800 points on the deal.

THE BETTER HALF

By Barnes

"Mother really gave that traffic judge a piece of her mind — it was worth the few extra dollars."

Driving in Turkey is a free-for-all

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — An average of 6,000 persons die on Turkish roads every year. Traffic accident and death rates here are among the highest in the world and are on the rise.

Turkey, with its population of 40 million, claims 6 per cent of the world's traffic fatalities. Authorities estimate that traffic deaths will reach an unprecedented 10,000 in 1976.

In the first seven months of this year, 4,526 persons were killed in traffic accidents and thousands injured. On the first three days of August, 50 lives were lost — two of them traffic policemen on motorcycles.

Many causes are cited for the mess which is Turkish traffic. According to Premier Suleyman Demirel, the inadequacy of roads is an important factor. He has pointed out that the main thoroughfare connecting Turkey's largest cities, Ankara and Istanbul, was built to accommodate daily traffic of 10,000 vehicles, but it now carries 40,000.

Highway improvement has not caught up with a significant boost in auto registration. The number of cars has risen from 153,000 to 393,000 in the last four years and the number of other motor vehicles has nearly doubled.

Interior Ministry statistics list driver negligence as the cause of 70 per cent of all accidents.

Most Turks are daredevil drivers with little respect for traffic regulations. Red lights are not necessarily considered stop signals. If the other side seems clear, few Turkish drivers can resist the temptation to speed through a red light. At night, many vehicles do not bother to dim their bright lights and blind approaching cars. Trucks park on highways without any warning lights.

Bus and truck drivers are over-worked and have been known to fall asleep at the wheel. In the cities, jay-walking is virtually a national sport.

Writings painted on to the back windows of taxis and buses say more about the Turkish philosophy of driving than the official book of traffic rules. Mostly in rhyme, they read: "This is fate, my friend," or "Do not come near you will be smashed, do not attempt to pass you shall regret, of 'If you are a lover, play the guitar; if you are a driver step on the gas pedal.'"

Turkish traffic acquired a semblance of order when the military took over for a few months in 1971, during a period of martial law. Thousands of speeding drivers and jay-walkers were fined. But troops are back in their barracks now, having left the roads to civilian traffic police who stand and watch as every rule in the book is flouted.

A new traffic bill increasing fines and bringing prison terms for traffic violations has been introduced in the Parliament. But the legislature has recessed without tackling it this year.

Inflation has rendered fines — $2 for passing through a red light — meaningless. According to the new bill, fines are to be upped as much as $60 or $70.

Interior Minister Oguzhan Asilturk has promised to double the 5,000-man traffic police force. But it is estimated that it will take at least a year before the passage of the new bill and its enforcement can be realized.

In the meantime, Turkish roads are likely to remain a free-for-all, with towing trucks busy and first aid stations over-crowded.

Allen County hits state fair change

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Allen County fair people are up in arms over plans to change the dates of next year's Ohio State Fair, because it will infringe on the traditional date for their summer show.

The Ohio Exposition Commission plans to start next year's Ohio State Fair 10 days earlier and run it 13 days instead of 12 to offset the possibility of lower attendance because of earlier school starts.

Some fair officials thought the earlier beginning of the school year hurt attendance this summer, but the 1976 fair wound up with a record overall crowd.

Jim Lorz, executive secretary of the Allen County Fair Board, said, "We will be completely surrounded by the state fair." He foresees livestock exhibitors abandoning the Allen County Fair for the higher premiums at the state fair. Harness horses and midway rides and games also will be attracted to the bigger crowds in Columbus, he said.

Lorz and his board have sent a protest letter to Gov. James A. Rhodes, and said more than 1,000 letters had been sent to Allen County resident urging them to speak out against the change in the state fair date.

One county fair is on tap this week in Ohio. The Brown County Fair opens Wednesday at Georgetown, running through Sunday.

The two-day Ohio Swiss Festival starts Friday at Sugarcreek.

New Henry Miller book in French

PARIS (AP) — Author Henry Miller, famous for his "Tropic of Cancer," has produced his first book written in French. "I'm Not Stupidier than Anyone Else" is a 60-page monologue examining literature, war, language and memories.

Miller, who has lived in Paris for the past 40 years, says his grammatical mistakes are uncorrected and the style of his new book, like its title, is conversational.

Until some years ago, weathered oil derricks along the highway between Tiffin and Findlay recalled the oil boom of the 1890s and early 1900's, when large quantities of oil were pumped from the surrounding oil fields and there was more natural gas than could be used. Around 1900 it was a common sight to see great gas flares burning night and day in the farmyards and fields—tragic waste of one of the state's great natural resources.—AP

Showers and some thundershowers were expected to continue across Ohio today, particularly in the central and southern counties. Northern Ohio, which received the brunt of the overnight rain, was expected to see some respite today.

In the last 24 hours, southern counties remained dry while the Akron-Canton area was soaked by 1.10 inches of rain.

A cold front running from the northeast to southwest corners of the state was responsible for the widespread rain.

Highs today were expected to be in the 60s to the low 70s. Showers will continue tonight in the southeast with a chance of showers in all sections but the northwest and lows in the mid 40s to the low 50s.

Tuesday will be mostly cloudy with a chance of showers southeast, becoming partly sunny elsewhere by late afternoon with highs in the upper 50s to the mid 60s.

Fair Wednesday and Thursday. A chance of showers Friday. Highs in the 60s and low 70s. Lows mostly in the 40s.

Local doctor completes education requirements

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Dr. Ralph Gebhart, a Washington C.H. physician, has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for reelection at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The academy, the nation's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family physicians now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.
